

Those pulses are indications that our sensor is picking up on radiation. They're that shape as originally, there wasn't a strong source—only background. Thus, when we did introduce some Uranium, it would naturally have exponential fluctuations.